« NEW KID ON THE BLOCK

The NuCanoe is the latest design from Tim Niemier, the visionary founder of Ocean Kayak often credited with kick-starting the sit-on-top kayak revolution. "My goal is to put a billion butts in boats," he says. Combining features of a sit-on-top kayak and a canoe in a package tailored to sportsmen and beginning paddlers, the 12-foot craft is a whopping 42 inches wide, making it stable enough to stand in. But the boat's width at the waterline is much less—only 36 inches with the full 950-pound payload—and that makes it considerably faster and more nimble than its form suggests. The NuCanoe can be paddled solo or tandem, draws only a few inches of water, and can be equipped for anything from touring to fishing and duck hunting. $799-$1,299. nucanoe.com

RETURN OF THE KING »»

The old Dagger Reflection 17 ... They don't make them like that anymore. Well, Dagger doesn't. But now Mad River does. The two brands share the same parent company, and with the Mad River line lacking a long, light, fast cruising and camping canoe, the Dagger canoe mold was unearthed. The Reflection tracks well but turns when you ask it to, making it a prized chariot on both lakes and rivers. The Mad River version will come in Royalex, with choice of wood, aluminum or Mad River's ingenious IQ or IQ2 gunwale system with adjustable seats and thwarts. $1,180-$1,580. madrivercanoe.com
